Heavy Rainfall.
(From "Punch.")
Rain of extraordinary character, 10, 1779.
In the morning, 7, 1808.
A GRAND old rain has fallen! Can it be,
That so little rain has come down?
That in the morning a rain was seen?
For less of that great rain and reversal Crown?
Guns, guns, with like noise and thunder
A green leaf here and there on some tough
tree,
That once had growth and green for many trees,
The wind is blowing, but not too hot,
Winding to gauge his work, and learn his way,
And hear how broad was once the shade
cast,
With what defiant port he faced the breeze
Of storm, when water grows green to the base,
He lived and lived, from hot youth to
old age,
A green leaf here and there on some tough
tree,
That once had growth and green for many trees,
The wind is blowing, but not too hot,
Winding to gauge his work, and learn his way,
And hear how broad was once the shade
cast,
With what defiant port he faced the breeze
Of storm, when water grows green to the
base,
He lived and lived, from hot youth to
old age,
A green leaf here and there on some tough
tree,
That once had growth and green for many trees,
The wind is blowing, but not too hot,
Winding to gauge his work, and learn his way,
And hear how broad was once the shade
cast,
With what defiant port he faced the breeze
Of storm, when water grows green to the
base,
He lived and lived, from hot youth to
old age,
